RISING STAR KHILTE CHEHRE

INTERNATIONALLY TRUSTED

India's #1 Inspiring Inclusive Cause

The world is built for those who can see.
The rest get left behind — until now.

Rising Star Khilte Chehre is India's only globally connected charitable trust working to expand independence, confidence and public participation for specially-abled people through structured real-world learning — helping them step out, lead and unlock their hidden potential, since 2019.

2,150+ Citizens directly impacted	10,000+ Lives influenced globally	20+ Experiential Learning initiatives	Empower 1 Lakh Person with Special Abilities 2030 vision

What began as a community-led effort to create meaningful opportunities for people with visual impairment has evolved into a wider inclusion platform bringing together accessible experiential journeys, behavioural inclusion, peer learning, technology exposure, mobility confidence, institutional engagement and public-system learning.

"People with disabilities should not have to choose between safety & participation. With the right preparation, support & accessible systems, both are possible."

1. Message from the Founder & Trustee

> "Travel is our most unfulfilled dream."

In 2019, I met a group of visually impaired friends during a simple conversation about travel. One sentence stayed with me — the line above. I did not hear it as a complaint. I heard it as a responsibility.

That moment became a promise — to stand beside visually impaired people who had the courage to dream, but were never given enough opportunities to explore the world with dignity. That promise became Rising Star Khilte Chehre.

I have always believed that food, clothing and shelter are not enough today for this community. They also deserve the equal right to live beyond survival — to aspire, to experience joy, to travel, to be seen, to belong, and to claim all possibilities of life.
I did not start RSKC only to organise journeys. I started it so that visually impaired people could claim their place in the world with confidence, friendship, joy and self-respect.

Over the years, I have seen hesitant first-time travellers return with laughter in their voices and courage in their hearts. I have seen families feel proud, volunteers become lifelong companions, and strangers become a community.
These journeys have taught me that inclusion is not created by sympathy. It is created when society opens its doors and walks together.

RSKC belongs to every supporter, traveller, volunteer, donor and family who has trusted this dream. I remain deeply grateful to each one of them. Our vision is simple: no visually impaired person should feel that travel, happiness, or the outside world is beyond their reach.

We will continue this journey with humility, faith and responsibility — one smile, one journey, one life at a time.

Amit Jain
Founder & Trustee, Rising Star Khilte Chehre

2. Message from the Mission Head (Global)

> "The greater barrier is invisibility."

I have never believed that blindness is the greatest barrier.
India has a reported 80 lakh blind citizens. The upcoming Cencus is going to explode this. For too long, many have remained away from public life because systems rarely expected them to travel, learn, lead, innovate, or participate as equals.

The Blind Tourism Mission was created to change this. It is an India-first mission to position India as the global category leader in sensory-led, blind-accessible tourism — while bringing blind citizens back into public life with dignity and a smile.

This mission is not only about journeys. It is about confidence, inclusion, livelihood, innovation, public behaviour change and national participation.
India already has the world's richest sensory heritage — sound, food, culture, spirituality, craftsmanship, nature and human stories. Our responsibility is to design it so that visually impaired people can experience it fully and lead from within it.

My vision is simple: India's blind citizens must not remain invisible. They must be seen as capable citizens, travellers, learners, entrepreneurs, innovators, leaders and nation builders.

3. About Rising Star Khilte Chehre

Rising Star Khilte Chehre is a registered charitable trust (Indian Trust Act, 1882; Regd. No. 579/2019-2020/4) based in Delhi, working at the intersection of disability inclusion, dignity, accessible travel and public-system accountability. RSKC holds 12A and 80G income-tax registrations, is listed on the NGO DARPAN portal, and is CSR-1 registered for corporate partnerships (FCRA registration in progress) since 2019.

India's First — Structured Accessible Journeys

RSKC designed India's first structured model of accessible community journeys for blind and low-vision citizens — repeatable, real-world learning environments for independence, mobility and confidence to untap their hidden potentials . RSKC is the only international non-profit of its kind, and describes its own mission simply: the world is built for those who can see — so RSKC brings the world to those who cannot.

Vision 2030 — Empowerment as a Right

1, 00,000 BLIND INDIANS TO BE EMPOWERED AND ENABLED TO TRAVEL AND LEAD BY 2030	Right, not Luxury ACCESSIBLE JOURNEYS AS A BASIC RIGHT, NOT A PRIVILEGE	Blend & Spark BLIND , PwD & SIGHTED CITIZENS INTEGRATED AS EQUALS

Our Mission: to make accessible journeys a basic right — fostering independence, confidence and growth, not dependency.

The Unseen Challenge in India

India is home to a reported 80 lakh blind citizens, of whom an estimated 50 lakh (5 million) have never travelled beyond their home city — not for lack of ability, but for lack of access, exposure and permission. Over 1 billion people live with a disability worldwide. This contributes to social isolation, reduced confidence, and a quiet sense of being left behind in an otherwise progressing society. RSKC exists to close that gap — not through charity, but through structured exposure, peer community and system accountability.

4. What We Do — Our Four Pillars

India's first sensory-led public-inclusion ecosystem.

01 · Real-World Immersive Learning Program for the Blind

Accessible journeys and initiatives for the blind — learning through touch, sound and lived experience, out in the world rather than confined to a classroom. India's first education model built entirely on real-world, sensory-led immersion for the blind community.

02 · Mind Strengthening Programmes

Mental-health care delivered by licensed clinical experts, purpose-built for the blind community — building resilience, focus and quiet confidence to face any terrain, on the road and off it.

03 · Act With Empathy

Inclusive behaviour infrastructure building. RSKC trains institutions and communities to build inclusion into everyday systems — creating networks of empathy that outlast a single interaction, so dignity becomes the default, not the exception.

04 · The Blind Experience

Experience the Daily Life of a Blind Person (Social Experiment)

India's first immersive ASMR/8D public inclusion programme — a four-minute audio experience built in the spirit of the Sugamya Bharat Abhiyan (Accessible India Campaign), the Government of India's own vision for a barrier-free India for every Divyangjan citizen.

A NOTE ON THESE FIGURES

These numbers represent different forms of engagement and should not be read as a single cumulative beneficiary figure.
RSKC distinguishes between people trained, people directly impacted, community members connected, broader outreach and public/media visibility.
Where outcome indicators such as mobility confidence, education or employment pathways are reported, they are based on available programme records and participant follow-up and should be interpreted within that reporting context.
RSKC's longer-term measurement approach is being strengthened to track outcomes more consistently across programmes.

6. Theory of Change

Real-World Learning programs are the beginning of systemic transformation in a human being as explained below

We believe when visually impaired citizens gain safe and meaningful access to the world outside their homes, confidence grows, public attitudes change, and systems begin to respond.

Visual impairment itself is only one part of the challenge. Inaccessible public spaces, untrained service providers, overprotective families, poor public behaviour and limited opportunities often restrict independent participation.

RSKC addresses these barriers through accessible journeys, practical exposure, trained volunteer support, peer learning, public sensitisation and engagement with institutions.

These experiences help visually impaired citizens build confidence, travel readiness, communication skills and the ability to advocate for themselves. Families become more trusting, volunteers become informed allies, and institutions better understand accessibility in practice.

Over time, visually impaired citizens participate more actively as travellers, consumers, professionals, leaders and users of public systems. Their participation creates stronger public demand for inclusion and encourages institutions to become more accessible and accountable.

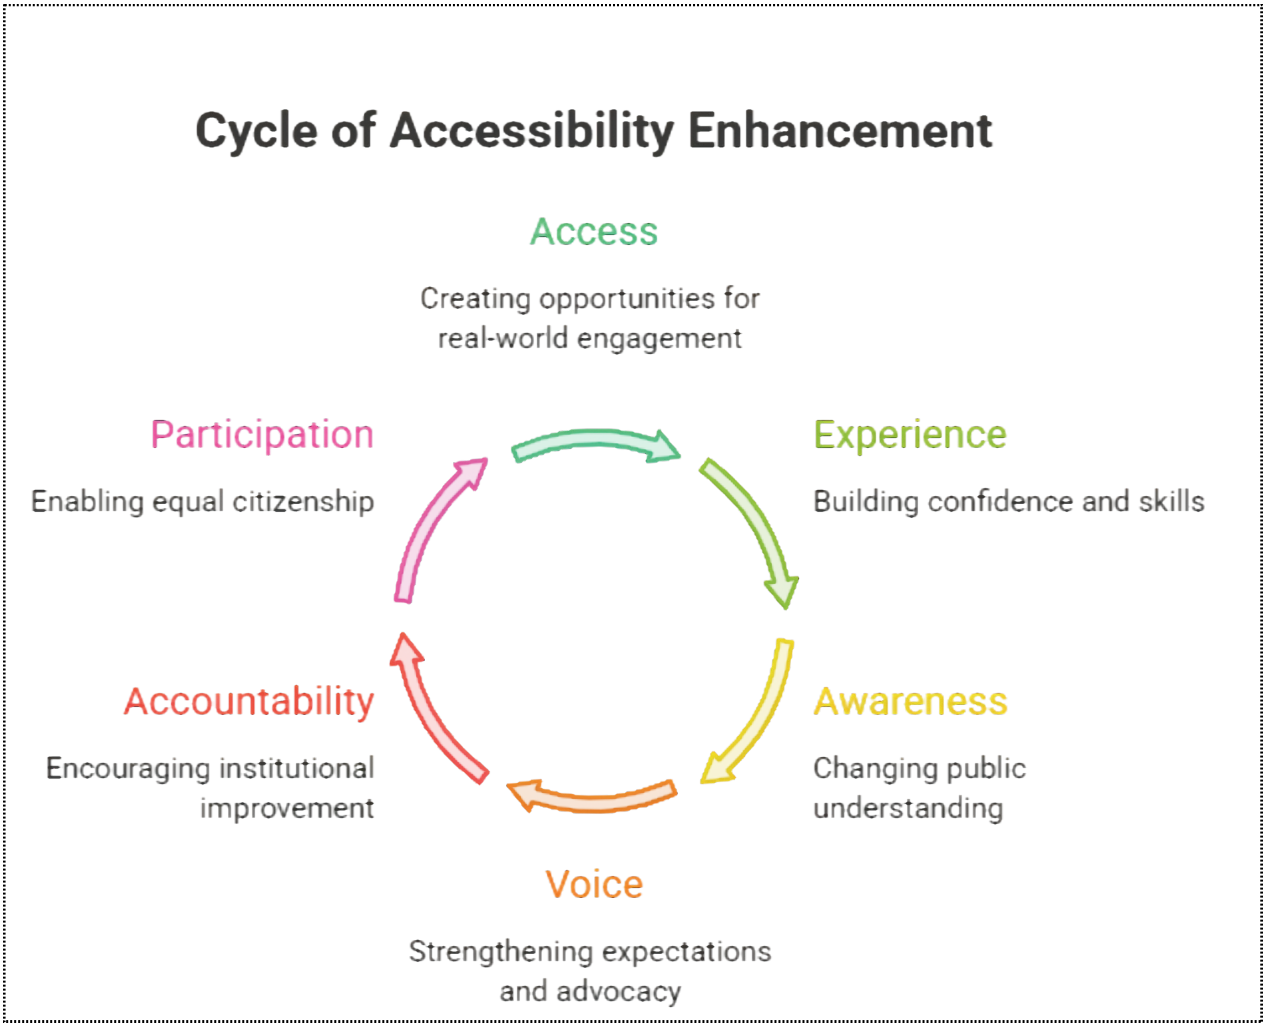

How Change Happens

Stepping Out → Exposure → Awareness → Demand → System Change → Social Development

Stepping Out : A visually impaired person enters new public, cultural and travel spaces with appropriate support.
Exposure : Real-world experiences build confidence, independence, practical skills and familiarity with unfamiliar environments.
Awareness : Families, volunteers, service providers and members of the public better understand the capabilities and accessibility needs of visually impaired citizens.
Demand : More informed and confident citizens begin expecting accessible services, respectful behaviour and equal participation.

System Change : Public institutions, tourism providers and businesses improve their policies, infrastructure, staff training and service design.

Social Development : Accessibility becomes part of everyday public life, allowing visually impaired citizens to participate more fully in society and the economy.

RSKC's framework is not based on one-time exposure. It is based on repeated, structured movement through real environments — where participants learn, volunteers unlearn, families build trust, and systems are forced to notice access gaps.

Inclusion Does Not Happen by Accident

Our 9-Step Operating Methodology — Designed for Dignity, Delivered with Accountability.

BEFORE THE JOURNEY | DESIGN WITH INTENTION

1. Mission Setting & Team Assignment
2. Transparent Budgeting
3. Accessibility Assessment & Route Testing
4. Safeguarding & Volunteer Preparation
5. Documentation & Participant Readiness

DURING THE JOURNEY | DELIVER WITH DIGNITY

6. Accessible Programme Onboarding
7. Daily Safety, Accessibility & Wellbeing Check-ins
8. Mixed-Ability Participation
9. Inclusive Engagement & Sensory Learning

7. The Year in Movement — FY 2025–26 Timeline

The organisation moved further from being perceived primarily as an NGO conducting inclusive journeys toward becoming a real-world inclusion and experiential-learning organisation with a growing international footprint.

Across the year, programmes brought specially-abled citizens into spiritual destinations, heritage environments, public sporting events, disability-sector platforms, international cities and cross-border travel experiences.

At the same time, RSKC strengthened the ecosystem around those programmes.

1. Volunteer behaviour was formalised.
2. Sensory interpretation became more intentional.
3. Emergency and medical preparedness became more structured.
4. Traveller documentation systems became stronger.
5. Impact measurement and donor reporting began to mature.
6. Corporate and institutional partnerships became a larger strategic priority.

The result is an organisation increasingly capable of converting a powerful community movement into a repeatable, measurable and scalable model of inclusion.

EXPERIENTIAL REAL WORLD LEARNING INITIATIVES	Structured real-world learning through heritage, cultural awareness, public utility usage, community engagement, civic and international environments.
BEHAVIOURAL INCLUSION	Act With Empathy: practical guidance for respectful interaction in institutions and public life.
COMMUNITY LEARNING	Assistive technology, peer exchange, confidence-building and daily independence.
SYSTEM ADVOCACY	Road safety, travel anxiety, mental health, emergency preparedness and access-gap documentation.
GLOBAL PARTICIPATION	International collaborations, peer exchange and capacity building
INSTITUTIONAL STRENGTHENING	CSR readiness, donor engagement, impact reporting, digital systems and stronger operating SOPs.

INDIA ROOTED. GLOBALLY CONNECTED.

RSKC is not a travel company.
Its ambition is to create a world in which specially-abled citizens can enter unfamiliar environments with confidence-and be met by systems prepared to include them and build a bigger & more capable version of themselves and support their family.

That work begins in India, but its relevance is global.

Disability inclusion is ultimately about more than ramps, policies or accessible technology.
It is about whether a person can participate.
Can they enter?
Can they move?
Can they communicate?
Can they choose?
Can they belong?
RSKC brings these questions into real life.

From Delhi's public spaces to international airports, from Indian heritage sites to Singapore's global landmarks, the organisation is building a model in which accessibility is experienced rather than merely discussed.
Built in India.
Tested in the real world.
Growing across borders

8. FLAGSHIP EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING INITIATIVES

ACCESSIBLE. EMPOWERED. LEADING TOGETHER.

RSKC's barrier breaking accessible journeys are designed as experiential-learning and capability-building interventions, not as leisure travel alone.

Each programme combines participation with practical learning both for Person with Special Abilities and Sighted Volunteers developing a deeper understanding of respectful assistance, inclusive communication and support that preserves independence.

4 CONTRIBUTION

Leading, mentoring, and shaping inclusive experiences for others. Creating impact together.

3 CONFIDENCE

Building independence, leadership skills, and self-belief through peer support and ground exposure.

2 LEARNING

Experiential learning and capacity-building through real-world practice.

1 ACCESS

Barrier-free travel and safe, accessible environments to begin the journey.

BLIND FAITH JOURNEY - AYODHYA | 26-29 JUN 2025

35 visually impaired participants & 15 trained volunteers experienced Ayodhya & the city through sound, texture, movement, orientation & guided interpretation. Blind participants strengthened confidence, sensory engagement & participation in an unfamiliar public environment, while volunteers gained practical experience in respectful guiding, communication and supporting mobility without taking away personal agency.

THE MEET STRENGTHENED OUR BELIEF THAT REAL IMPACT BEGINS WHEN PEOPLE LISTEN, SHARE, AND BUILD TOGETHER WITH RESPONSIBILITY.
IN OUR WORKSHOPS AND ROUNDTABLES, WE EMPHASIZED THAT ACCESSIBILITY IS NOT A TECHNICAL AFTERTHOUGHT OR A CHARITY GESTURE; IT IS A CORE CIVIL NECESSITY THAT MUST BE BUILT INTO OUR NATIONAL INFRASTRUCTURE.

NATIONAL POLICY ENGAGEMENT

RSKC AT FICCI'S 3RD GLOBAL SUMMIT | 22–23 JULY 2025

OUR PRESENCE AT THIS IMPORTANT INDUSTRY AND POLICY PLATFORM REFLECTED RSKC'S COMMITMENT TO BRINGING THE CAUSE OF VISUALLY IMPAIRED CITIZENS INTO LARGER CONVERSATIONS ON WORK, PARTICIPATION, DIGNITY AND INCLUSIVE GROWTH. IT ALLOWED US TO ENGAGE WITH CORPORATE PARTNERS, POLICY THINKERS, AND INSTITUTIONAL REPRESENTATIVES ON BUILDING HIGHLY ACCESSIBLE, SUPPORTIVE, AND DIGNIFIED FRAMEWORKS FOR DIFFERENTLY-ABLED WORKERS.

Exhibitor & Global Trailblazer

International Purple Fest | Oct 9-12, 2025

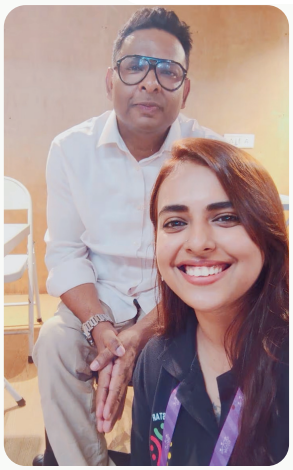

RSKC participated alongside disability-sector organisations, professionals and community members, contributing to peer learning, sector visibility and relationship-building.

Participants benefited from peer interaction, greater sector exposure and a stronger sense of community representation, while volunteers deepened their understanding of disability leadership, lived experience and inclusive practices beyond programme delivery.

Celebrating Independence, Mobility and Dignity

White Cane Day | Oct 15

RSKC celebrated this occasion to reaffirm its commitment to breaking social, emotional & mobility barriers at Indraprastha College, Delhi with young minds, educators & the RSKC community highlighting the importance of building a society where visually impaired citizens are not seen through limitation, but through strength, courage and participation.

The initiative helped build awareness about independent mobility, break the hesitance to use white cane, appropriate assistance and the importance of treating visually impaired people as active participants in public life.

9. ACT WITH EMPATHY

Behaviour is Part of Accessibility Infrastructure

ACT WITH EMPATHY

Infrastructure alone does not determine whether a person feels included.

Human behaviour can either increase or reduce independence.

Act With Empathy is RSKC's behavioural-inclusion initiative designed to help schools, colleges, corporates, volunteers and public-facing teams understand respectful interaction with people with disabilities.

The programme encourages people to:

- ask before offering assistance;
- communicate directly with the person concerned;
- explain surroundings and actions clearly;
- guide without unnecessarily taking control;
- avoid assumptions about capability;
- use respectful and inclusive language; and
- recognise that dignity and consent are part of accessibility.

A physical barrier can sometimes be removed through infrastructure. A behavioural barrier requires awareness, practice and clarity.

COMMUNITY, TECHNOLOGY AND INCLUSION

RSKC's work extends beyond journeys.

Peer learning, assistive-technology exposure, disability-sector partnerships and direct community communication help specially-abled people access information, practical tools and networks that can support daily independence.

RSKC's WhatsApp and Facebook community connects 5,000+ specially-abled people, supported by specialised networks, partner organisations, radio outreach and newsletters.

Technology is treated as an enabling tool within a wider ecosystem of mobility, confidence and participation.

Good intentions are not enough. People need clear direction.

ROAD SAFETY, MENTAL HEALTH AND EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS

Independent participation also requires attention to risk and emotional readiness.

RSKC's developing work in this area includes:

Road Safety

Understanding mobility barriers and promoting safer, more inclusive public environments.

Travel Confidence and Emotional Preparedness

Helping participants prepare for unfamiliar environments and reduce anxiety through information, orientation and structured support.

Emergency Preparedness

Exploring disability-inclusive emergency communication and response practices, including engagement with relevant health and institutional ecosystems.

The aim is not to remove every element of risk from participation.

It is to help participants and systems prepare for risk responsibly.

SNAPSHOTS OF GROUND ACTIVATION

RSKC trains institutions and communities to build inclusion into everyday systems — shifting mindsets so it becomes the default, not the exception.
Built in the spirit of India's Sugamya Bharat Abhiyan (Accessible India Campaign) — the Prime Minister's own vision for a barrier-free India for every Divyangjan citizen.

10. GLOBAL EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

RSKC's international programmes use unfamiliar environments as real-world learning opportunities.

Dubai and Abu Dhabi | 25-30 Nov 2025

A 6-day Global VI Expedition across Dubai and Abu Dhabi from 25-30 November 2025 — turned international travel into a transformative classroom for mobility, independence and leadership. The expedition was led on-ground by RSKC's Global Mission Head, Lovely Sarkar Soti, with 24×7 backend support from Rising Star Khilte Chehre Management in India and a powerful team of volunteers acting as allies, not caretakers.

GLOBAL EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

Participants experienced airports, immigration, hotels, international attractions and unfamiliar urban environments.
These settings provided opportunities to practise mobility, communication, coordination and self-advocacy.

India has one of the youngest blind populations globally, yet over 50 lakh visually impaired citizens continue to face mobility exclusion due to fear, inaccessible infrastructure and lack of training. 70% have never travelled independently and only 1 in 10 has received basic mobility training. This expedition demonstrated that exposure builds confidence — and confidence transforms futures.

GLOBAL EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

RSKC's international programmes use unfamiliar environments as real-world learning opportunities.

Thailand | 11-15 Feb 2026

Invited to Bangkok School for the Blind under the Royal Patronage of Thailand, RSKC's Real World Learning Initiative turned an accessible journey into representation, rights awareness and real-world systems learning on the global map.

Around 50 participants travelled across the country & engaged with the peers at Bangkok School for the Blind. The programme created opportunities for international exposure, peer interaction and disability-sector learning.

INTERNATIONAL LEARNING

What made it count

- Invitation to Bangkok School for the Blind under the Royal Patronage of Thailand
- Theme: "Freedom to Move. Nothing About Us Stops Us"
- 50 participants — blind and low-vision travellers with sighted allies and volunteers
- Real-world navigation: airports, hotels, coach transfers, markets, shopping centres, cultural venues
- International institutional exchange between Indian and Thai visually impaired communities
- Confidence-building, practical life skills, mental wellbeing and road-safety awareness

Sensory Tourism in India

AN INDIA-FIRST VISION WITHIN THE GLOBAL ACCESSIBLE TOURISM AGENDA

RSKC is advancing an India-first vision for sensory tourism that makes destinations more accessible, participatory and welcoming for blind and low-vision individuals. The ambition is not to create a separate tourism economy, but to help mainstream tourism become richer, more inclusive and more humane for everyone.

- Participant Readiness & Mobility
- Inclusive Tourism Ecosystem
- Accessibility Assessment & Learning
- Global Collaboration & Exchange

> "India has the potential to become one of the world's defining hotspots for sensory tourism. Very few countries can offer such richness within one geography. This is one of our greatest opportunities to enable and empower the blind community in ways that benefit all citizens as a whole. I am proud to help shape India as a global first."

दिल्ली से अयोध्या के लिए 50 दृष्टिबाधितों की प्रेरक यात्रा शुरू

टोहना। देश की पहली ग्लोबल ब्लाइंड ट्रैवल नेटवर्क संस्था राइजिंग स्टार खिलते चेहरे ने दिल्ली के शालीमार बाग स्थित डी पैराडाइज में भावनात्मक कार्यक्रम किया। इसमें देशभर से आए 50 दृष्टिबाधित प्रतिभागियों ने भाग लिया। कार्यक्रम के बाद सभी को भगवान श्रीराम की जन्मभूमि अयोध्या के लिए रवाना किया गया। आयोजकों ने कहा, यह सिर्फ तीर्थ यात्रा नहीं, समर्पण और समावेशी समाज की ओर एक कदम है। कार्यक्रम में टोहना निवासी पंजाब एवं हरियाणा हाईकोर्ट के एडवोकेट तनुज गोयल, लीगल एजुकेटर आयुष जैन, दिल्ली के व्यवसायी शुभम जैन और ग्लोबल पीस यूथ कमेटी के अध्यक्ष ब्रिज बाबू ने श्रद्धालुओं को तीन दिवसीय अयोध्या यात्रा के लिए झंडी दिखाकर रवाना किया।

दृष्टिबाधित प्रतिभागियों ने अपने हुनर से सभी का दिल जीत लिया। किसी ने वाद्य यंत्र बजाय, किसी ने गीत गाए, किसी ने जीवन की प्रेरक कहानी सुनाई। पानीपत से आए एक शिक्षक ने बताया कि पहले उनकी दृष्टि 100% थी। नस ब्लॉकेज के कारण वे दृष्टिबाधित हो गए।

How 1700 Blind Travellers Explored 16 Destinations in India & Abroad

From Delhi to Thailand, Amit Jain's Rising Star Khilte Chehre (RSKC) is turning inclusive travel into a nationwide movement, opening global and Pan-India journeys that foster independence and confidence for blind travellers.

Volunteers as co-travellers

RSKC avoids calling its volunteers "helpers". They are referred to as co-travellers. "Many of them act as photographers, guides, and sometimes even comedians who diffuse tension when things get hard," says Gupta.

All volunteers undergo orientation training before departure. The organisation aims to maintain a 4:1 traveller-to-volunteer ratio, shifting to 1:1 in crowded areas such as Chandni Chowk.

Shlok Bang, 25, an advertising professional, volunteered during the Ayodhya tour. He initially signed up as a photographer but ended up doing and learning much more about accessibility.

दिल्ली का दिल

यात्रा के एक पड़ाव पर मौज-मस्ती करते दृष्टिबाधित टूरिस्ट

जीने का नया नजरिया

एक बार किसी यात्रा के दौरान मुझे कुछ दृष्टिबाधित लोगों से मिलने का अवसर मिला। जब उनसे यह मालूम हुआ कि मेरा काम ट्रैवल से संबंधित है तो वे उत्साहित हो गए। उनका बातचीत के दौरान मुझे जो यह अहसास हुआ कि, भले ही वे खुली आँखों से बाहर की दुनिया देखने में असमर्थ हैं, फिर भी उनके मन की आँखों से मंजिलों पहचानने की चाहत, वो महसूस करना चाहते हैं। यही सोचकर मैंने मन ही मन यह निश्चय कर लिया कि मुझे इनके लिए भी कुछ करना चाहिए, ताकि वे भी घूमने-फिरने का सुख उठा सकें।

पहली यादगार यात्रा

शारीरिक रूप से अक्षम लोगों को अपने साथ कहीं लेकर जाना बहुत बड़ी जिम्मेदारी का काम हैं। इसलिए मैंने 'राईजिंग स्टार : खिलते चेहरे' नाम से एक सोशल प्लेटफॉर्म का गठन किया। हमारे इस समूह में कई प्रोग्रामिंग वालंटियर्स हैं, जो यात्रा के दौरान दृष्टिबाधितों की हर जरूरत का पूरा ख्याल रखते हैं। ऐसे लोगों की तलाश के लिए मैंने स्पेशल स्कूलों, दृष्टिबाधित संस्थाओं एवं सोशल मीडिया का सहारा लिया। पहली बार जब मैंने नैनीताल

और उसके आसपास स्थित पर्यटन स्थलों की यात्रा की योजना बनाई तो हमने साथ 27 लोगों दसने को तैयार रहे गए, जिसमें कुछ दिव्यांग भी शामिल थीं।

चल पड़ा सिलसिला

उस यात्रा के दौरान दृष्टिबाधित लोगों की खुशी देखकर ललया, हूमने से कई लोग ऐसे भी थे, जो पहली बार घर से घूमने के लिए अकेले निकले थे। उनके परिवार वालों ने हमारे वालंटियर्स पर इतना भरोसा किया, यह हमारे लिए बड़ी उपलब्धि थी। इसके बाद तो ऐसी यात्राओं का सिलसिला चल निकला। दूसरी बार हम 40 लोगों को मंदिर दर्शन यात्रा पर। फिर जयपुर और जिस कॉन्सेप्ट स्पेशल पैकेज की यात्रा तक हमारे इन स्पेशल पर्यटकों की संख्या 70 तक पहुंच गई। हमारे यह समूह देखते हीं 'मिनी इंडिया' लग रहा था क्योंकि इसमें दिल्ली और उत्तर प्रदेश के अलावा जम्मू कश्मीर, सतना, झारखंड और राजस्थान के पर्यटक भी शामिल थे।

सनमाल के यादें: खुशी

दृष्टिबाधित और दिव्यांगों को साथ लोगों के साथ एक मंच पर लाना ग्रे-स्तर छोटी सी कोशिश है। मुझे जो आर्थिक खुशी मिलती है, वह मेरे लिए अनमोल है। अगर हम ऐसे लोगों को मुक्त यात्रा पर ले जाएं तो उनके आत्मसम्मान को बढ़ेगा। एक पल के करीलियां आती ही नहीं, पर हम इसी भी सिताश जरूर लेते हैं।

अगर मन में खुशियां बांटने का जज़्बा हो तो व्यस्तता के बावजूद व्यक्ति कोई न कोई रास्ता ढूंढ ही लेता है। दिल्ली में ट्रैवल एजेंसी चलाते वाले अमित जैन के मन में यह ख्याल आया कि दृष्टिबाधित लोग पर्यटन स्थलों की सैर से वंचित रह जाते हैं यह सोच कर उन्होंने ऐसे लोगों के ट्रैवल ट्रिप पर ले जाने की शुरुआत की। यह कैसे संभव हुआ जानते हैं उन्हीं की जुबानी।

अपनों का सहयोग

मेरी यह योजना परिवार के सदस्यों और दोस्तों को इतना पसंद आई कि वे इसके हर तरह से मददगार बने को तैयार रहे। मैं समस्त मित्रों को मदद के लिए पैसे एवं समय और बेटी भी हमारे साथ जाते हैं। कुछ मित्र लोग स्वेच्छा से आर्थिक सहायता भी देते हैं।

भविष्य की योजनाएं

हम चलने-फिरने और बोलने-पलने में सक्षम लोगों को भी अपने साथ के साथ कई दूरस्थ जाना चाहते हैं। इन दिनों मैं अपनी इस योजन पर काम कर रहा हूं। अगाला इस यात्रा को में हम ऐसे पर्यटकों को विदेश यात्रा पर ले जाएंगे। आशा है, हम इस तरह उन लोगों के अवस्थ कामयाब होंगे।

RISING STAR REDEFINES INCLUSIVE TRAVEL

MASRAT NABI & ARCHITA LAKHOTIA

Aditya Orungati, a bank manager from Hyderabad with partial vision impairment, had always dreamt of travelling internationally. But until recently, his journeys had been limited to familiar routes and short distances, often accompanied by family or friends.

"Sometimes I travelled alone, but only up to 500 km and anything beyond that seemed distant," Orungati tells India Outbound.

International travel was something that Orungati had never actively pursued, not because of fear, but because travel is rarely planned with visually impaired people in mind.

international travel has remained a distant dream for many visually impaired Indians, largely due to inaccessible infrastructure and inadequate support system. However, a Delhi-based travel firm has started to change that, with carefully crafted trips overseas for small groups. A recent such trip to the United Arab Emirates demonstrated how inclusive tourism can foster independence, dignity and meaningful global experiences.

However, everything changed for him one day in early August last year when he came across a WhatsApp message on his telephone, advertising a trip to Dubai and Abu Dhabi, tailored exclusively for visually impaired travellers.

"That one line kept me captivated. I had never heard of a travel programme designed solely for people like me. Until then, international travel had felt like a distant dream. Suddenly, it seemed possible that someone had thought about what we needed, how we experienced the world and how we could travel freely and with dignity," Orungati adds.

Photos: Rising Star Team & Guests

Without hesitation, Orungati applied and contacted the travel firm Rising Star Tours & Travels, a Delhi-based travel agency, which in 2018 had launched a cell society organisation, the Rising Star Khilte Chehre (RSKC), with the focus on designing accessible and inclusive travel experiences only for visually impaired people.

"A visually impaired person does not need special treatment, just a voice to guide, someone to describe the surroundings and the freedom to explore independently. That is enough," — Aditya Orungati

The first such inclusive trip was organised to Thailand in 2019, with about 50 travellers, cutting across cities, age groups and professions including bankers, administrators, working professionals and retirees. Another trip was organised to Abu Dhabi, but the outbreak of Covid-19 pandemic stalled other planned visits and it was only in 2025 that a second such international trip was organised by the NGO.

Soon after he sent in his details, Orungati received a call confirming his participation, along with 29 other visually impaired persons and was provided a detailed itinerary of the cities, landmarks and experiences that awaited him.

"I was not scared or anxious. I was excited because I knew handling one visually impaired traveller was not easy, let alone 30 people on an international trip. But the confidence RSKC inspired made me feel ready," he adds.

When he finally set foot in Dubai, the reality was overwhelming. "When I entered Dubai on my first international trip, I was completely fascinated. I remember standing on the road and thinking, oh my God! I am standing on a road outside India, right here in Dubai. I kept telling myself that this was real. Every moment felt incredible. It reminded me that when we travel, we should truly experience and enjoy each moment of the journey," Orungati adds.

According to him, every aspect of the trip was a revelation. From the comfort of the hotels to the guidance of trained volunteers, every detail was designed to empower rather than restrict.

"Rising Star Tours and Travels made this tour truly accessible for visually impaired people. Every moment was a celebration from exploring Abu Dhabi and Dubai to enjoying the food and shopping. Standing on the 124th floor of Burj Khalifa, a place I had only dreamt about, I was beyond words," he adds.

Orungati dismisses preconceived notions about visually impaired travellers. "Many people wonder how a blind person can travel. They do not realise that with awareness and a little support, we can experience the world fully. A visually impaired person does not need special treatment, just a voice to guide, someone to describe the surroundings and the freedom to explore independently. That is enough," he adds.

Looking back, Orungati sees the trip as transformative.

"Travel is not just about seeing, it is about feeling, experiencing and knowing you belong. Many visually impaired people hesitate because they think, 'What will you see there?' That question keeps us from exploring. But there is only one life, one chance. You have to go, experience, and show the world what you can do. This trip proved it was possible," says Orungati.

Biresten Orungati, among the group of 30 travellers was Ramaswamy Dharamrajan, a retired government officer living in Delhi, who had spent more than four decades travelling extensively across India and abroad, for official purposes. Despite his visual impairment, "let even for Dharamrajan, this trip offered a fresh perspective.

"I did not feel fear signing up for this trip. I have travelled to Europe and the United States multiple times, but what struck me this time was the level of thought and care taken to make the journey accessible, without taking away our independence. The volunteers, the itinerary, even the hotels were prepared to meet our needs and that made all the difference," Dharamrajan tells India Outbound.

For visually impaired travellers, experiencing a city or monument is about engaging all the senses and accessibility is not just about ramps or elevators, it is about thoughtful guidance, tactile experiences, and the freedom to explore independently. For Dharamrajan, the journey to Dubai and Abu Dhabi revealed how travel could be truly inclusive.

"Even after decades of travelling the world, this trip was different. In Abu Dhabi, the attention to accessibility was remarkable. At the BAPS Swaminarayan Temple, I could touch the carvings, feel the textures and understand the stories through the guide's explanations. It is not just about getting from one place to another, it is about truly experiencing it. For visually impaired travellers, these sensory experiences transform a visit into something alive and unforgettable. It reminds us that travel is not a limitation; it is a way to connect with the world in ways sighted people may never notice," Dharamrajan adds.

"For visually impaired travellers, these sensory experiences transform a visit into something alive and unforgettable. It reminds us that travel is not a limitation it is a way to connect with the world in ways sighted people may never notice. — Ramaswamy Dharamrajan

For visually impaired travellers, touch, sound and spatial explanation are not substitutes for sight, they are ways of seeing.

"When a sighted person visits a monument, they simply look and move on, often without a second thought. For us, it is entirely different. We touch the walls, feel the carvings, trace the shapes and immerse ourselves in every detail. Every texture, every curve tells a story and each expression we make in response is like holding a diamond in our hands. It is a way of seeing the world that goes beyond sight, a way of tasting its history, its beauty and its soul. Every monument, every place we visit, becomes alive for us in a way that is deeply personal and unforgettable," says Dharamrajan.

While Dharamrajan represented the seasoned traveller, Orungati embodied the excitement of a first-time international journey. For both, the trip was a reminder that the world need not be an obstacle but a space to explore with the right support. According to the travellers, on the trip, volunteers played a critical role in bridging that gap. They were trained to assist without overwhelming, guiding travellers through bustling streets, complex hotel layouts and international airports.

For Orungati, the help he received was unforgettable. "When I was struggling with a log injury on the way to Burj Khalifa, one of the volunteers immediately arranged a wheelchair and pushed me all the way to the entrance. I was able to experience the 124th floor without missing a single moment. Moments like these made me feel seen, valued and independent," says Orungati.

At the heart of this transformative journey is Amit Jain, the founder of the travel firm and the NGO. A seasoned travel entrepreneur, Jain has long been driven by a vision to make travel truly inclusive, particularly for visually impaired travellers.

"When I founded Rising Star Khilte Chehre, my goal was simple but deeply personal. I wanted to create travel experiences where people are not merely accommodated, but genuinely empowered. Too often, visually impaired travellers are treated as if the world is off-limits to them, or that they should settle for second-best. I wanted to change that narrative. Travel should open doors, spark curiosity and create memories; it should never be a source of fear or frustration. Everyone, regardless of their abilities, deserves the chance to explore the world freely, to feel the excitement of new cities, the joy of discovering cultures and the satisfaction of navigating independently," Jain tells India Outbound.

My vision is for trips where participants feel respected, included, and capable, where every step of the journey is designed to uplift, rather than limit them, and where travel becomes not just a possibility, but a transformative experience that stays with them long after they return home," adds Jain.

Jain's journey into accessible tourism began in 2016 during a small trip outside Delhi. He met a few visually impaired individuals who were eager to explore the world with freedom, dignity and support.

"When they came to know I was involved in travel, they asked if I could arrange trips for them. Seeing their interest, I realised that I could make this possible," Jain adds.

To make travel more accessible and ensure that luxury experiences are not out of reach for the visually impaired, the organisers subsidise 30 pc of the cost of international trips.

"While we do not fully sponsor international travel, we understand the need to create more opportunities for visually impaired people to explore the world and enjoy. For the Abu Dhabi and Dubai trip, the cost of which was INR 1,20,000 and even for our other international trips, travellers contribute 70 pc of the cost, while we cover the remaining 30 pc. It is not a lack of desire, but a lack of opportunity that often holds people back. By creating the right environment and access, we aim to bridge that gap. Participants are usually selected on a first-come, first-serve basis," Jain says.

The organisation is all set to organise its second trip to Thailand on February 10 and has so far received over 150 responses.

He emphasises that building these trips, however, is far from simple. Every destination requires careful planning, from scouting hotels and restaurants to assessing sightseeing locations for accessibility. Volunteers working with the organisation take care of the physical needs of the travellers. For the international trips to Abu Dhabi and Thailand, one volunteer is assigned to five visually impaired tourists.

My vision is for trips where participants feel respected, included, and capable, where every step of the journey is designed to uplift rather than limit them, and where travel becomes not just a possibility. — Amit Jain

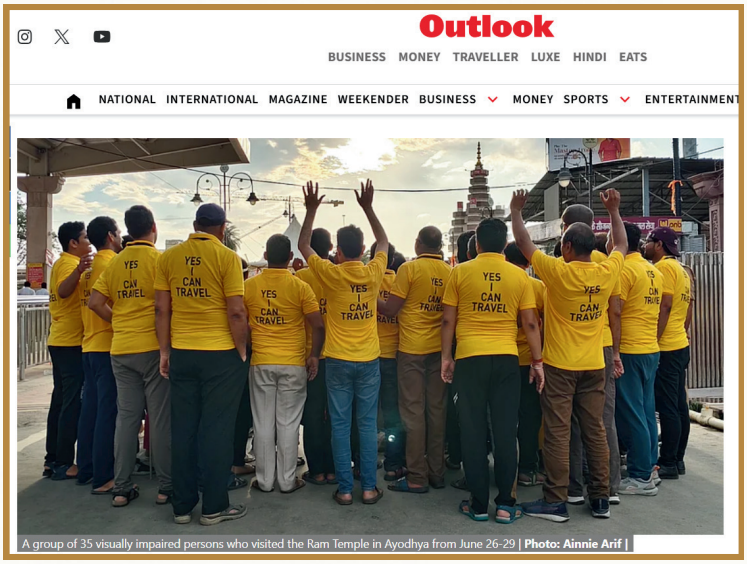

"It is very important to understand that those who are visually impaired have not lost complete vision or were not born blind. They do have some vision left, and it is only when they lose more than 70 pc vision that they are called blind. To help these visually impaired people, we do a recce of every place, see the entry, the exit, the pathways, the facilities and brief the staff on how to assist our travellers with dignity. Volunteers working with us are trained to guide participants through every step, and understand the environment of the location, from hotel lobbies to restaurant entrances, ensuring that support is provided without overwhelming independence," Jain adds.

The impact of these efforts is tangible and heartwarming, says Jain. "These moments show how much this initiative matters. The happiness and joy of our travellers remind us that we are fulfilling a real need. People are ready to travel if they know someone is looking out for them," he says.

Yet, Jain is candid about India's challenges. Despite having nearly five million visually impaired people, infrastructure and technology lag far behind global standards.

As India's only organisation organising trips for the visually impaired, he says travel is still widely perceived as a luxury, a safety concern, or an unattainable dream for many.

"While we did face a couple of problems when we had our first trip to Thailand in 2019, Abu Dhabi had far more better arrangements and were also very cooperative and adaptable for the visually impaired travellers. However, if we do compare India with Abu Dhabi or Dubai or any foreign destination, we are one out of 10, and they are nine. Even the Taj Mahal, the most visited monument in India, lacks the basic facilities needed for visually impaired travellers," he adds.

Appreciation Letter

I am very glad to put on record the appreciating steps taken towards Visually Impaired person i.e. taking Blind person groups to different places in India & Abroad such as Rishikesh, Jaipur, Mussorrie, Goa , Pangot, Jim corbett, Thailand & Dubai and few other charitable activities like Heritage Walk etc. In some cases you had also given me the honour to Flag off the journey.

I also came to know that you are the only trust across who is into upliftment, educational, self expression and confidence building activities of this kind.

I wish you all the success in your noble and charitable Mission.

Sub: Letter of Appreciation for all the initiatives and efforts taken by RSKC for inclusive travel for Visually Challenged persons both in India and abroad

Dear Sir,

RSKC, Rising Star Khilte Chehre was founded by Mr. Amit Jain, in 2019 with Registered Office in New Delhi. It is India's only pioneering structural real world experiential learning movement enabling visually impaired citizens to move learn and lead independently transforming fear into confidence and dependence into leadership impact.
So far , The RSKC has Empowered and transformed 1300 Visually Impaired citizens 10,000 lives reached globally Internationally recognized Trust with its office in New Delhi.

2. I came to know about RSKC inclusive travel programmes through Whatsapp group in 2025. Being a frequent traveller for the past 45 years, I got in touch with them and was amazed to learn about their plans and programmes for inclusive tours for VI persons along with volunteers. After visiting their Website I decided to join their trip to Dubai and Abu Dhabi in November 2025 along with my wife and Aunt. They processed all our documents at their end for us and we did not have to go to Embassy.

3. I was amazed that 25 Visually Challenged persons joined from different places including the USA. We were very well received by RSKC organisers Ms. Lovely Sarkar Soti and her husband Mr. Amit Soti. The staff of Dubai Grand Hotel welcomed us offering all help. The hotel rooms were very good with ultra modern facilities. The morning Breakfast at the Grand hotel and lunch and dinners at different hotels enroute on tour were amazing with multiple choices of many items. The tour guide in our bus was giving audio description of various locations along with historical background which gave us lot of insight and knowledge.

The organisers had lot of patience endurance and accommodated us in every possible way be it helping for serving food, escorting at different locations, providing washroom facilities arranging medical assistance etc. Prior arrangements were made for entry into different tour spots thereby saving our time. They always had a smile on their face which motivated us. We really never felt that we were visually challenged persons on the entire tour. Dubai is highly accessable place with many facilities. We have decided to travel with RSKC in future to have more fun and enjoy accessable travels with them due to their accommodative and inclusive policy.

4. I wish Mr.Amit Jain, RSKC employees and organisers of travels the very best for accomplishment of their goals.

Thanking you,
Yours sincerely,

(R. Dharmarajan)

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

December 24, 2019

This is to put on record our appreciation for the good work being done by RISING STAR KHILTEY CHEHRE, a non-governmental, not-for-profit organization based in Delhi.

We appreciate their efforts to provide educational, cultural and recreational exposure to persons with disabilities particularly the visually impaired. Their numerous educational and recreational trips to various parts of India and the world have been very beneficial. They have been providing volunteers and care-takers to persons with disabilities at no extra cost. We are pleased to note that all these activities have been carried out on charitable basis and without any commercial interests.

We recommend that Rising Star Khiltey Chehre NGO led by Mr. Amit Jain is provided with due recognition by the government/authorities. We wish them success in all their future endeavours.

TO WHOMSOEVER IT MAY CONCERN

I would like to sincerely appreciate the efforts of Rising Star Khiltey Chehre, a non-governmental initiative, for their commendable work in creating opportunities for persons with visual impairment and other disabilities.

The motive behind this initiative is truly inspiring as it focuses on empowerment, confidence building, social inclusion and providing meaningful experiences for persons with disabilities to explore and participate in society.

It is a matter of immense pride for me that such a valuable initiative is being led from my own constituency, Wazirpur. The team is doing significant work towards creating a more inclusive and accessible society.

I congratulate the entire team of Rising Star Khiltey Chehre for their dedication and continued efforts, and I extend my full support to this initiative.

From Journeys to a Movement

RSKC's next chapter is about taking a proven model of accessible, real-world learning and building the systems, partnerships and knowledge required to scale it responsibly.

OUR VISION 2030

1,00,000+ blind citizens

to experience greater mobility, confidence, participation and independence.

OUR 2030 DIRECTION

SCALE ACCESSIBLE LEARNING

Expand structured real-world learning journeys across India for blind individuals and other persons with disabilities.

BUILD INDIA'S SENSORY TOURISM ECOSYSTEM

Advance India as a global destination for sensory and inclusive tourism — connecting accessibility, culture, heritage and human experience under one geography.

TAKE THE MODEL GLOBAL

Build on our international engagements and collaborations to create cross-border learning, institutional exchange and participation by international blind communities.

STRENGTHEN PATHWAYS BEYOND THE JOURNEY

Connect confidence and mobility with education, employability, leadership, community participation and greater independence.

BUILD KNOWLEDGE & SYSTEMS

Document methodologies, accessibility learnings, participant feedback and outcomes to strengthen evidence-led programme design and contribute to the wider accessibility ecosystem.

GROW RESPONSIBLY

Strengthen safeguarding, governance, monitoring, partnerships and financial accountability so that scale never comes at the cost of dignity, safety or impact.

*The destination is not the end of the journey.
A more accessible society is.

Build What Inclusion Can Become.

RSKC believes meaningful inclusion cannot be delivered by one organisation alone. It requires a coalition of corporates, institutions, governments, foundations, accessibility experts, tourism stakeholders, volunteers and communities willing to move from intention to participation.

PARTNER WITH PURPOSE

Work with RSKC to create lasting pathways to confidence, mobility, participation and dignity. Your organisation can collaborate with us in the following ways:

CSR & Programmes

Support accessible learning journeys and inclusion initiatives.

Institutional Collaborations

Open your spaces, programmes and expertise.

Accessibility Innovation

Co-create solutions for more inclusive tourism and travel.

Employee Volunteering

Engage your teams in meaningful, hands-on experiences.

Research & Knowledge

Build evidence and share best practices.

Strategic Support

Amplify stories, networks and opportunities for greater impact.

JOIN THE MOVEMENT

Let's create environments in which persons with disabilities are not accommodated at the margins, but participate at the centre.
